

Flexible joint for three-phase rail

Flexible union for three-phase track. This accessory is the most versatile of all the brackets we have, as its flexibility allows you to set any angle you want, enabling you to create complex installations with different angles. It is available in white and black. Build a complex network of LED fixtures with this accessory, three-phase tracks, and install as many LED projectors as you need without exceeding 16A of the total installation.
